CHATSWORTH

Stables Courtyard & Cavendish Rooms

THE STABLES COURTYARD

In 1758 the 4th Duke commissioned the architect James Paine to design a new stable block at Chatsworth. Paine's new building provided stalls for 80 horses and rooms for the grooms and other stable staff. Today the Stables Courtyard with its majestic fountain and stone archways, creates a spectacular setting on a warm summer evening for a truly memorable event or celebration.

THE CAVENDISH ROOMS

The Cavendish rooms make a fabulous space for relaxed contemporary entertaining. The glazed ride, is light, bright, and airy, (originally created to provide shelter for exercising horses in wet weather) and provides the perfect venue for informal parties and celebrations. If you are dining in the Stables, the Cavendish rooms make the perfect place for your guests to meet and relax with a drink and canapés, before you are invited through to dinner. The bar is also ideal for drinks receptions to mark any stylish and memorable product launch or exhibition.
