You won't be stuck for places to stay with a host of home-from-home B&B's, Guesthouses and Self-catering cottages. If you're looking for a unique holiday experience, relax in one of Forest Holidays new log cabins, or if you're looking for something a bit different try a Canadian canoe expedition with Tipi Adventure.

Leading on from last year's new feature, 'Forest Fame', this year's guide includes even more film locations and hints about what to expect for the year ahead. 2010 has been a year of the celebrity with many famous names making an appearance in the Forest of Dean, including the likes of Laurence Llewelyn Bowen and Ray Mears.

50,000 copies of the guide have been printed plus an extra 30,000 copies of the popular pull-out map. Expect to find the guides at tourist information centres, libraries, attractions and hotels or you can download a copy or request one online at www.visitforestofdean.co.uk.

Councillor Patrick Molyneux, Cabinet Member covering Tourism in the Forest of Dean said: "This guide shows that the Forest of Dean is place for adventure, a place for all seasons and a place that accommodates everyone. With Mallards Pike already voted Warburton's Best Picnic Site in the South West 2010, I know that this guide will attract more great coverage for the Forest of Dean."
