

Press Release

April 2010

Coventry Farmers' Market

The popular Coventry Farmers' Market is returning to the city centre on Thursday 8th April. The vibrant market can be found on Market Way and will be open to the public between the hours of 9am – 5pm.

The market offers a huge variety of fresh, locally sourced produce and has always proved very popular with the public with many customers returning each month.

Expect to find an abundance of seasonal spring produce including; fresh bread, honey, , marmalade, jams, mustard, pickles, croissants, pies, fresh meat, vegetables and dairy products.

Everything on offer at the market is farmed and sourced from within a 50 mile radius, ensuring that customers are buying local and supporting the local economy as well as reducing their carbon footprint.

Jo Grimshaw Communications Executive for CV One, said:

“The Farmers market is a hugely popular and effective way of getting locally produced, fresh, high quality food direct from the producer to the consumer. Look out for the fantastic spring fayre on offer this month.”
