ESCAPE THE WORLD, EXPLORE THE WOLDS

Huge blue skies, wide open spaces and views that have inspired some of the world’s greatest artists – the Wolds is the perfect holiday destination. Explore our unspoilt landscapes on foot, by bike or car, or on horseback. And all that fresh air will give you an appetite – good thing we have such a great selection of cafes and restaurants to choose from, then!

And this year, a trip to the Wolds will be extra-special – they sit neatly just above Hull, the UK City of Culture for 2017. There’ll be so much to do and see, right across the region…

YOUR JOURNEY TO FUN AND RELAXATION STARTS HERE AND NOW...

Fun days out for all the family, relaxing or romantic weekends with that special person, or a longer holiday packed with sporting or cultural activities; there’s no better place to find them than the beautiful Yorkshire Wolds.
AWARD-WINNING EXPERIENCES

Every year the Remarkable East Yorkshire Tourism Awards (REYTAs) are handed out to the best of the best. They celebrate the quality of visitor experiences our region has to offer, so why not try some for yourself?

Stay…

Whether you’re looking for a self-catering cottage or a welcoming B&B, we’ve a fabulous range of accommodation on offer.

Award winners include Burton Constable Holiday Park, set amid a beautiful arboretum and near to the Elizabethan Burton Constable Hall, with its historic walled garden; the picturesque Georgian red-brick Wold Cottage, near Driffield; the welcoming Broadgate Farm Cottages, near Beverley, which feature luxury accommodation in the newly-converted Cart House; or Beverley’s elegant Tickton Grange Hotel.

Eat…

Yorkshire has more Michelin-starred restaurants than any other region outside London, and one of them, the Pipe and Glass, is right in the heart of the Wolds at South Dalton.

Elsewhere, enjoy a taste of the Mediterranean at the fabulous 1884 Wine and Tapas Bar overlooking Hull Marina; delicious home-made cakes and more at the Folly Lake Café, set in a log cabin overlooking the lake for which it’s named; and fine dining at the stylish Black Horse at Little Weighton, near Cottingham, which features regular tasting evenings.

Enjoy…

There’s always something going on around the Wolds – this year, more than ever, with 365 days of celebrations right across the region.

Not to be missed is Beverley Food Festival, an autumn event held in the centre of this picturesque and historic town, with over 100 stalls offering tempting treats both sweet and savoury.

For music-lovers, Hull’s Trinity Festival is a must-visit. The festival features the finest emerging talent from the region, plus guest headliners: last year’s were Clean Cut Kid and The Hoosiers.

Experience…

The Wolds and beyond have so much to offer, whether you’re looking for a great theatrical experience, or a wildlife spectacle.

There’s music, dance, drama and comedy all year round at Bridlington Spa, one of the region’s premiere entertainment venues – recent offerings range from The Last Shadow Puppets to The Pirates of Penzance.

The world-famous Hull Truck Theatre offers highly acclaimed groundbreaking productions, comedy, dance, opera and cinema.

And one of the jewels in the crown of the Yorkshire coast is the RSPB reserve at Bempton where, each spring, over a quarter of a million seabirds flock to breed, providing an avian spectacle of world-class quality.

Cheers!

There are great bars, pubs and inns across our area where you can enjoy locally produced beverages. Try a pint from the Wold Top Brewery, whose ever-growing range of beers wins awards year on year; or visit East Yorkshire’s ‘hidden gem’, North Frodingham’s family-run Great Newsome Brewery, and discover the stories behind Jem’s Stout, Prickly Back Otchan, or one of their other intriguingly-named brews.

And if you prefer a decent glass of wine, treat yourself to a bottle from one of the area’s award-winning vineyards, some of the most northerly in the country.

Every year the Remarkable East Yorkshire Tourism Awards (REYTAs) are handed out to the best of the best. They celebrate the quality of visitor experiences our region has to offer, so why not try some for yourself?
ARTISTIC INSPIRATION

Be inspired by David Hockney’s favourite East Yorkshire landscapes

Big spaces are something of a speciality on the Wolds, so it’s not surprising that the landscapes around here have inspired some of the most iconic and recognisable images in modern British art by one of our greatest living artists – David Hockney.

But David Hockney isn’t the only artist to seek inspiration from our stunning region – there are dozens of others working in styles and media to suit all artistic tastes: www.eastridingartists.co.uk

And the Wolds is home to its very own open air gallery – the fabulous Wander art trail is the first of its kind in the country – a 79-mile national walking trail studded with fascinating sculptures and intriguing art installations see page 16.

So fond of the Wolds is David Hockney that he has given his blessing to a Hockney Trail which will guide you to and around some of his favourite locations – see if you can spot the landmarks that have influenced him: www.visithullandeastyorkshire.com/yorkshire-wolds/hockney.aspx

“WHAT I DIDN’T KNOW WAS I WAS DEEPLY ATTRACTION TO THE BIG SPACE.”

The Yorkshire Wolds is perfect farming country for both crops and livestock, while our geography and coastline mean game and seafood also thrive.

Our tea rooms, cafes and restaurants don’t have to travel far to find the best ingredients to create delicious meals and snacks.

If you prefer to cook for yourself, take an inspiring trip to one of the many food festivals, farmers’ markets, farm shops and bakeries across the region, including a harvest food festival held in ‘Yorkshire’s Food Capital’, Malton, in the autumn.

Daily Bread

Great bread is, thankfully, getting easier to find. Many small bakeries across the region now offer a selection of artisan loaves - or, if you’re one of the increasing numbers of enthusiastic home bread bakers, visit East Yorkshire’s only working windmill. At Skidby Windmill, near Cottingham, you can see your flour being produced before you buy it.

Back to School

Stuck in a culinary rut and need some foodie inspiration? We’ve two fabulous cookery schools in the area – the warm and welcoming Yorkshire Wolds Cookery School: www.yorkshirewoldscookeryschool.co.uk in the heart of the Wolds at Southburn, near Driffield while the stylish Malton Cookery School is in the town centre. www.maltoncookeryschool.co.uk

We love food!

It really is one of life’s great pleasures, whether it’s a mug of tea taken outdoors during a hike or a sophisticated dinner at a fine dining restaurant.

Food is important to us Yorkshire folk, and on the Wolds we have our own organisation to champion it. The East Yorkshire Local Food Network will guide you around the many and varied producers of fabulous food and drink in the region, including butchers and bakers, farm shops and breweries, award-winning smokehouses and specialist charcuterie makers.

Find them all, and more, at the EYLFN website: www.enjoy-eastyorks-food.co.uk

Love to eat, and enjoy the luxury of eating out? We’ve something for everyone, from simple tea rooms to restaurants offering the best in fine dining.

A BIG WOLDS WELCOME!

That’s what you’ll get, whatever the season or the weather, in the friendly towns across the Yorkshire Wolds.

There are no overwhelming cities in this area – just a whole load of beautiful towns, packed with vibrant independent shops, tearooms, inns and restaurants, lovely churches, museums and other heritage attractions, and all just begging to be explored on foot, by bicycle, or by car. Many of them have cycling or walking trails on offer, and most have annual events and festivals – see page 28-29 for further details.

Beautiful Beverley really does have something for everyone, from the culture vulture to the retail therapy junkie. Its soaring Minster is considered one of the most beautiful in the country, and its Georgian Quarter is packed with listed buildings. Shoppers can find big high street names alongside independent ones, and the new Remingate leisure and retail destination includes a six-screen cinema. The town’s Westwood area is home to one of the UK’s favourite racecourses, and theatre-goers will enjoy the excellent East Riding Theatre.

Historic Driffield is the capital of the Wolds. The characterful market town has great shops, cafes and pubs, and each summer holds the largest one-day agricultural show in the UK at the Driffield Showground. The new Mortimer Trail follows in the footsteps of pioneering Victorian archaeologist John Mortimer, who excavated over 400 prehistoric ‘barrows’, or burial mounds, on the Wolds. History buffs will also enjoy Driffield as a base to visit some of the unique properties nearby, including Georgian Sledmere House and Elizabethan Burton Agnes Hall.

Beverley Minster

It has a rich maritime history – yet Goole is quite some way inland, located on the River Humber, west of Hull. Find out more about the ‘port in green fields’, as it’s known, at the Yorkshire Waterways Museum, or follow the outdoor art trail celebrating the life and work of the town’s ‘Piehead Painter’, Reuben Chappell.

Once famous throughout Europe for its horse fair, these days Howden is an attractive market town with some intriguing architecture, not least its magnificent Grade I listed Minster, and the more modest, but historically important, Church of the Sacred Heart, an early work by Joseph Hansom, later designer of the hansom cab. A unique R100 Airship Trail tells the story of the town’s part in British aircraft history, including its connection with Barnes Wallis, creator of the bouncing bomb – the town also has a pub named after him.

It has a thriving arts scene, and is home to the national water lily collection at Burnby Hall Gardens and Museum – spectacular between June and July.

Walk one of the many routes that surround Snainton, a market town with Walkers are Welcome status, before enjoying a pint at the historic Old Mill Brewery, located in a picturesque 18th century mill building. The village’s beautiful church is Grade I listed, with Norman and Early English features.
WOLDS VILLAGES

The Yorkshire Wolds is a compact crescent of rolling chalky countryside studded with picturesque and historic villages, each one a gem in its own right. If you can’t decide which to visit, why not follow the route of one of two fascinating trails? The Wolds Valley Heritage Trail and the Pilgrimage of Grace Heritage Walk both incorporate some fascinating village stops.

The Yorkshire Wolds Way

You can visit nine villages along the 11.5 mile Great Wold Valley Heritage Trail: Wharram-le-Street, Duggleby, Kirby Grindalythe, West Lutton, East Lutton, Helperthorpe, Weaverthorpe, Butterwick and Foxholes. Each village has interpretation panels looking at the heritage and local interest, geology and geography of the route. The trail also examines the human occupation of the Great Wold Valley, highlighting the importance of the Gypsy Race stream for settlers.

WATER

Warter’s name is probably familiar to most people these days because of David Hockney’s biggest ever painting, the epic Bigger Trees Near Warter – you can still visit the very trees that inspired the artist, despite rumours to the contrary! But there’s more to the village than that, including the Yorkshire Wolds Heritage Centre, in the deconsecrated Grade II listed St James’ Church, which showcases the landscapes and history of the Wolds, suggests some great walks, and is home to some beautiful stained glass.

NUNBUNHOLME

There’s another St James’ Church in Nunbunholme, the next stop along the Pilgrimage of Grace – this one, with elements of Norman, Early English, Decorated and Victorian architecture, is Grade I listed. Nunbunholme was also once the site of Yorkshire’s poorest nunnery, founded in the 13th century.

KILNWICK PERCY

Next stop is Kilnwick Percy, where the stunning Hall, built between the 16th and early 19th centuries has for the last 30 years been home to the Buddhist Madhyamaka Kadampa Meditation Centre. Visitors are welcomed to the hall, and can explore the extensive grounds with woodland walks, parkland and lake, and enjoy the World Peace Café.

WHARRAM-LE-STREET

Just one mile south of the still-inhabited Wharram-le-Street is Wharram Percy, the most famous and one of the best preserved of Britain’s 3,000 or so known deserted medieval villages. For over half a century, archaeologists have pioneered new techniques here to understand what life was like back then and why the village was eventually deserted in the early 1500s after six centuries of continuous human occupation.

Also nearby is Wharram Quarry Nature Reserve, cared for by the Yorkshire Wildlife Trust. Its chalky landscape makes it home to many species including gorgeous orchids and butterflies.

Follow in the footsteps of the great rebellion of 1536. This 8½ mile section of the Pilgrimage of Grace trail is part of a wider heritage project that aims to promote the dramatic story of the Tudor rebellion that threatened to knock Henry VIII off the throne. It’s a walk with a story that links key personalities and events whilst taking in some of the outstanding scenery and picturesque villages of the East Yorkshire Wolds.

A first time visit to the Yorkshire Wolds often comes as a surprise. The outstanding quality of the landscape is a truly wonderful discovery.

The peace and quiet of the area brings a welcome respite from the pressures of everyday life. This is a very special landscape.

Here lies chalk - shaped over millions of years into a combination of hidden and lush green dry chalk valleys and wide open field tops, where the views stretch out for miles and miles.

The Yorkshire Wolds Way National Trail gives you a chance to walk some or even all 79 miles on a journey across this unique piece of countryside.

Along the way you will discover how the rich layers of countryside are complemented by the heritage of the Yorkshire Wolds, such as the parkland of Londesborough and the deserted medieval village of Wharram Percy.

And let’s not forget the wildlife – as in any visit you are almost sure to spot hares on the ground – and red kites in the sky. At the same time don’t miss some of the dramatic artworks from the WANDER – art along the Yorkshire Wolds Way project.

The great thing about the Yorkshire Wolds Way is that it is a good route if you are new to countryside walking. There are plenty of easy sections, which we have details of on our website, and because it is a National Trail the signing is superb, so you won’t get lost easily! There are also plenty of short circular walks along the route that will give you a flavour of this area.

Market Weighton is a typical Wolds market town at the heart of East Yorkshire. There are shops, cafes, pubs and restaurants for you to sample and, in addition to the Yorkshire Wolds Cycle Route, there is an easy ride that takes you all the way to Beverley or provides shorter trips for younger families.

The Hudson Way Rail Trail follows the line of the old Beverley to York railway, providing a leisurely ‘there and back’ off-road ride on a mainly flat route. The trail supports a wealth of flora and fauna along its length with the Hudson Local Nature Reserve running for over three miles from the Kiplingcotes car park.

The Yorkshire Wolds Cycle Route runs alongside the Hudson Way through the beautiful Spring Dale to the east of Market Weighton. There are diversions for refreshments at Goodmanham, Etton and Cherry Burton. The distance to Beverley is around 10 miles.
HISTORY, HOUSES AND GARDENS
The beauty of the Wolds and the surrounding landscapes have always attracted people to the area, with the result that it’s home to some of the UK’s finest stately homes, and many other historic attractions, too.

Burton Constable Hall
An Elizabethan gem set within 300 acres of natural parkland, Burton Constable Hall has an extensive collection of fine furniture and art. You can also meet ‘Constable Moby’ – the skeleton of a 58-foot long sperm whale stranded on a nearby beach in 1825 and believed to have been the inspiration for Herman Melville’s Moby Dick. It is now on display in the Great Barn.

Sewerby Hall and Gardens
Extensive gardens, a museum, a mini zoo, and regular exhibitions, concerts and other events, Sewerby Hall really does have something for everyone. The Grade I listed early Georgian house, with its stunning cliff-top location, was recently refurbished to allow visitors to see it as it would have been around 1900. It’s also home to an important collection of memorabilia about the Hull-born aviatrix Amy Johnson.

Stewart’s Burnby Hall Gardens and Museum
Home to the glorious national water lily collection, the gardens at Burnby Hall have been awarded the prestigious Yorkshire in Bloom Gold Award for the past seven years. The gardens also feature a rockery, stumpery, a Victorian garden and a secret garden. The Stewart Museum is dedicated to the extraordinary life and collections of 20th century man of action Major Percy Marlborough Stewart.

Burton Agnes Hall
Described as one of the 20 best English houses, alongside Windsor Castle, Buckingham Palace and Chatsworth House, Burton Agnes Hall has for 15 generations been home to the same family, which has filled it with treasures ranging from spectacular carvings commissioned when the hall was built between 1598 and 1610 to French Impressionist masterpieces. You will also find beautiful examples of Georgian furniture and porcelain.

Wolds Way Lavender
Feel yourself relax as you breathe in the heavenly scent of this family-run lavender and herb farm, which includes beds made especially accessible for the disabled. Popular attractions at the farm include a living willow giant games maze and the Wolds Way Light Railway. And, of course, you can take home a lavender product, or your very own plant.

Wharram Percy
The largest and best known of Britain’s deserted medieval villages, Wharram Percy still features a ruined church, recreated fishpond, and the ghostly outlines of many lost houses from the 12th and 14th centuries, before its final abandonment in about 1500.

The Scampton Estate
One of the finest Regency stately homes in the area, Scampton Hall boasts a stunning contemporary garden widely regarded as one of the country’s finest, designed by the renowned Dutch plantsman Piet Oudolf. It was recently the location for the filming of the BBC’s star-studded version of JB Priestley’s An Inspector Calls.

Jackson’s Wold Garden
A real hidden gem, the three-acre family-run Jackson’s Wold Garden sits on the edge of the Wolds and includes a walled garden, kitchen garden with Elizabethan-style knot garden, courtyard, wildflower meadow and woodland walk.

Sledmere House
Still owned by the Sykes family, who built it over 250 years ago, this spectacular Grade I listed Georgian house is set within parkland designed by the great landscape architect and gardener Capability Brown.

Open sesame!
Many of the area’s private gardens take part in the National Gardens Scheme, which sees usually unseen gardens open to raise funds for nursing and caring charities: www.ngs.org.uk

Wassand Hall
A fine Regency house with beautiful recently restored walled gardens reached by a woodland walk including an avenue of newly planted Norwegian Maples, with stunning views of Hanse Mere.

Scrayingham churchyard
Born in nearby Howsham the transport pioneer known as the ‘Railway King’, George Hudson, is buried in the graveyard at Scrayingham Church. It was Hudson who convinced George Stephenson to construct a railway route through York, resulting in it becoming a major centre of the industry.

Yorkshire Wolds Railway
Based at Fimber Halt on the former Driffield to Malton line, East Yorkshire’s only heritage railway offers steam buffs a glimpse into the past. The visitor centre is a cosmetically restored British Railway MK1 full brake coach, and you can enjoy a cab ride along the 300-ft demonstration line in the locomotive Sir Tatton Sykes: www.yorkshirewoldsrailway.org.uk
THERE’S A FESTIVAL FOR EVERYONE IN 2017

In the UK City of Culture year the Yorkshire Wolds and beyond offers visitors a host of events to complement the year long programme of cultural events taking place in Hull. With everything from music, arts and classic cars to tulips, tours, teddy bears and country fairs. Why not combine a visit to the Yorkshire Wolds with a city experience and have the best of both worlds?

This is a small selection of events in the area. Some may be bookable and charges may apply. It is advisable to check current details before making a journey.

Home to some of Britain’s most iconic wildlife, East Yorkshire is the natural destination for any wildlife lover. With a huge array of Springwatch worthy wildlife encounters to choose from, when will you discover Yorkshire’s wild side?

www.yorkshirenaturetriangle.org.uk

Go on puffin patrol or a seashore safari

Between April and July, marvel at over 250,000 seabirds at RSPB Bempton Cliffs and YWT Flamborough Cliffs. Colourful puffins, raucous kittiwakes and soaring gannets all top the bill at one of the most accessible seabird colonies in the UK.

Take a boat trip and peer up at the towering chalk cliffs – the Yorkshire Belle or North Landing Boat Tours.

Hop over the headland to the Living Seas Centre at South Landing for the latest whale and dolphin sightings, or take part in a rockpooling seashore safari with a friendly marine expert.

On top of the Wold

Having successfully colonised the Yorkshire Wolds, red kites are a regular sight on the skyline. Underfoot, the chalky soil is perfect for wildflower displays, at their most impressive in June and July. Top spots for orchids include Flamborough Cliffs and the Hudson Way footpath.

Wetland wonders

Nestled in the heart of the countryside, Tophill Low is a haven for otters, water voles, kingfishers and barn owls. While away the day exploring the many viewing hides and the watery panorama from the new welcome centre, or tread your path amongst the orchid meadows and butterfly-filled woodland glades.

Migration miracles

Hull isn’t just on the map for 2017 – every spring and autumn, thousands of birds use the Humber Estuary as a vast aerial motorway, with YWT Spurn acting as the last stop before the continent.

Visit this unique peninsula to seek out amazing wildlife, climb to the top of the Spurn Lighthouse (pictured) or even go on safari on one of the 4x4 guided trips. YWT Kilnsea Wetlands, just 5 minutes up the road, is a natural stop off in your day.

Snaith & Cowick
The Gateway to East Yorkshire

The Manor of Snaith and Cowick was in existence by the time of the Domesday Book (1086) although, whilst Snaith is mentioned three times – as Esneid, Esnoid and Esnoit – there seems to be no reference to Cowick. Unfortunately, there's also no detailed entry for Snaith, possibly because it was a royal manor and reserved for the support of William's household at the time of Domesday.

In medieval times, Cowick continued to belong to the King and, in fact, was Edward II's centre of Government for a time, with the Ordinance of Cowick being signed there in the 1300's.

(The Kings moat, site for the hunting lodge can still be seen today) It subsequently became part of the estates of the Duchy of Lancaster and then of the Dawney family.

An entry in the Universal British Directory of 1791 lists Cowick as being a large village near the conflux of the Don and Aire Rivers. It was the seat of the Right Honourable Lord Viscount Downe and was within half a mile of a moat, cellar and small remains of a castle, said to be a seat of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster.

This fabulous festival offers superb activities that will appeal to families, casual walkers and enthusiasts alike, all in the beautiful Yorkshire Wolds.

Take your pick from guided walks, cycle rides, horse rides, special interest walks and activities.

ATTRACTIONS

Allied Air Forces Memorial
Yorkshire Air Museum
More than just an air museum!

Great for Families / Groups / Schools
- Evocative, authentic wartime airbase
- 60 historic aircraft and vehicles
- The only Halifax bomber in Europe
- Informative, educational exhibitions
- 20 acre aircraft park and gardens
- Shop and Restaurant

Our extensive exhibitions includes “Pioneers of Aviation”, which explores Yorkshire’s aviation heritage as the birthplace of manned flight with Scarborough born Sir George Cayley’s man-carrying glider of 1853. It also features Leeds born Robert Blackburn, who established the first flying school at Filey and then his aircraft factory at Brough, near Hull, thus beginning a long history of aviation manufacture in the region.

We could not forget the amazing, record-breaking Hull born aviator Amy Johnson’s epic solo flights to South Africa and Australia and the exhibition provides a fascinating insight into her exploits. The work of the legendary Sir Barnes Wolls is covered, including a striking interpretation of the “Bouncing Bomb” and Dambuster raids, plus his early connection to Yorkshire with airship building at Howden.

During WW1, East Yorkshire airfields were the backbone of 4 Group Bomber Command, with Halifax bombers taking the war to the German industrial heartland. The Museum houses the definitive national exhibition on Bomber Command, “Against the Odds”, which has become a focal point of our many displays.

Pride of place in the collection of over 60 aircraft and vehicles is the unique reconstruction of the Halifax bomber “Friday the 13th”, which flew 128 successful missions with 158 Squadron, based at RAF Lissett, near Bridlington. From the pioneering Cayley Glider, Wright Flyer and Blackbrom Mercury Monoplane to the supersonic Mirage III and Tornado jets, the supereb collection spans the history of flight! Seven of our aircraft are in live, engine running condition and perform in our exciting “Thunder Days” and other events and these include the mighty Nimrod MR2 and Victor V-Bomber jets.

New for 2017 is the arrival of the huge Dassault Mirage IV A, which has been gifted to the Museum by the French Government. This iconic Cold War aircraft will be unveiled to the public on 12th April. It will be the only example to be seen outside France and will make a unique pairing with the Mirage III.

The Yorkshire Air Museum & Allied Air Forces Memorial has become a favourite destination for visitors to the region and has been regularly awarded the Trip Advisor Certificate of Excellence.
