LONDON BOROUGH OF RICHMOND UPON THAMES
COMMUNITY TOILET SCHEME
Welcome to London’s Arcadia

Richmond upon Thames lies 15 miles southwest of central London — a fast train from Waterloo Station will bring you here in 15 minutes. When you arrive you will emerge into a different world.

Defined by the River Thames with over 16 miles of riverside, we are without doubt the most beautiful of the capital’s 32 boroughs. It is with good reason that we are known as London’s Arcadia.

We really have something for everyone. Our towns are vibrant and stylish with great places to eat, shop, drink and generally have a good time. Our parks and open spaces are internationally renowned and we have other world-class destinations such as Hampton Court Palace, The Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew, the London Wetland Centre in Barnes and Twickenham Stadium, which in addition to hosting international rugby matches and rock concerts houses the Museum of Rugby — open to visitors all year round.

I am extremely honoured to be Leader of this beautiful borough. Our aim at the Council is to preserve and improve it for everyone. Top of our agenda is protecting the environment and fighting climate change. Through our various policies we are setting an example of what local government can do nationally to ensure a greener and more sustainable future.

I extend our warmest welcome and hope you will enjoy your visit.

Councillor Serge Lourie
Leader Richmond upon Thames Council

A fascinating glimpse into Britain’s past is revealed by visits to the wealth of historic properties in and around the borough. Sedate and tranquil or vibrant and fun, these historic houses and gardens can offer whatever the visitor wants.

Well-known attractions such as Hampton Court Palace boast 60 acres of glorious riverside gardens, all against a spectacular backdrop of one of the world’s finest royal palaces. Not forgetting the world-famous maze!

The borough’s unrivalled historic homes also take in buildings such as the magnificent Ham House, a 500-year-old Stuart property by the Thames, and the elegant Marble Hill House in Twickenham. Kew Palace, which has recently undergone a massive £6.4m restoration, is another must for visitors.

Discover hidden gems such as Garrick’s Temple by the riverside at Hampton, or nearby attractions such as Syon House, Osterley Park House and Chiswick House, all set in magnificent parkland.

History buffs along with casual visitors of all ages will find plenty to interest them among these and other stunning locations – all at a price to suit your pocket.

Mr F Round.
Be dazzled by the borough’s historic gems...

“I am a resident of Richmond. I learned so much. Excellent.”
Professor James Knight.

The Pagoda, Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew
Whatever you want from the river, you’ll find it here in Richmond upon Thames, where the capital meets the countryside.

The Thames Path takes you through busy riverside towns brimming with restaurants, cafes and pubs, and past wild commons and woodland.

Islands dot the river, ranging from deeply wooded to bustling industrial, complete with boat yards and moorings. Modern luxury flats, grand historic homes and palaces, and little plotlands houses, found on Eel Pie and Trowlock Islands, overlook the water. And everywhere you will see waterfowl - grebe, coot, swans, geese, heron, ducks, and moorhen - even cormorant and egret.

Out on the water, why not hire a traditional Thames rowing skiff at Richmond, Marble Hill or Hampton Court. Ferries depart from Hampton and Ham, and whether on the water or the towpath, you can watch boats glide through the locks at Richmond and Teddington.

In Richmond upon Thames, the river has a special magic. Walking a quiet towpath on a clear evening, about 20 minutes after sunset, you may be lucky enough to see the summer migrants darting off to roost as the bats swoop in over the trees and water to feed and drink.

“My favourite pastime is hiring a boat from Richmond and eating a picnic in the shade of a bankside willow.”
David German, Twickenham.
World-renowned Royal Parks, stunning stretches of riverside and pristine village greens combine to make Richmond upon Thames the greenest and most beautiful borough in London. The jewel in the crown is majestic Richmond Park, with its gently rolling hills, ancient copses and herds of free-roaming deer, little changed from the days of Charles I. But all around the borough are echoes of England’s rich heritage, from Chestnut Avenue in Bushy Park, designed by Sir Christopher Wren, to the sounds of leather on willow on the cricket greens of Richmond, Twickenham and Kew. The borough’s parks are the safest in London and are currently benefiting from a massive investment programme under which 38 children’s play areas have been refurbished. Richmond upon Thames is the only London borough to span both banks of the Thames. Nature abounds, with Barnes Common and the Ham Lands rich in wildlife and flora, and ripe for exploration.
Richmond Park
London’s largest park with 2,500 acres of hills, woodlands, gardens and grassland with stunning views as far as St Paul’s Cathedral. Home to large herds of red and fallow deer, the gated park was designated as a National Nature Reserve in 2000. The adventurous can enjoy a host of activities including horse riding, cycling and power kiting. It also houses the magnificent Isabella Plantation and the gardens at Pembroke Lodge.

If you’re looking for a quiet drink with views of the River Thames or a more lively setting for a fantastic meal out, Richmond upon Thames has a variety of pubs and restaurants to suit.

eating out

For traditional pub grub, try the Barmy Arms and White Swan on Twickenham Riverside; or The Roebuck on Richmond Hill and The Sun Inn in Barnes. For the more contemporary, try Canyon restaurant in Richmond, Arthurs on Twickenham Green or The Naked Turtle in East Sheen offering live jazz while you eat.

The Original Maids of Honour tearooms in Kew (opposite Kew Gardens) offer delicious cakes and teas. Or, if you’re visiting Hampton Court, why not cross the road to the Mitre Hotel or Blubeckers for lunch. Mamma Mia in East Sheen offers wonderful Italian food and the Petersham Hotel offers lunch or dinner overlooking the famous view as painted by Turner.
Richmond upon Thames is a great venue for eating out with family and friends.

Sid McNally.
Whatever you’re shopping for, Richmond upon Thames has it all. Richmond itself, one of the main shopping areas, is a great place to start. It can be reached in as little as 15 minutes from central London. If you feel the need for a spot of pampering, take a stroll up George Street where there are hair salons and cosmetics counters aplenty. Move on towards Hill Rise and a range of galleries will whet any artistic appetite. For a gem of a cobbled street, head to Church Street in Twickenham where you can stroll along an entire road of boutiques boasting gifts, jewellery, ladies fashions, formal suit hire, unique flooring and more.

Don’t forget the local high streets, parades and villages in Kew, Mortlake, Barnes, Sheen, Ham, Petersham, Hampton, Whitton and Teddington.

The borough’s tombs are among the less well known – but fascinating – places to explore. Among the most remarkable is the final resting place of adventurer Sir Richard Burton in Mortlake. His tomb takes the form of an Arab tent built of Forest of Dean stone. The sides are sculpted to create an illusion of canvas tugged by a desert wind. It can be found in the cemetery of the Church of St Mary Magdalen in North Worple Way.

Equally unusual is the Kilmorey Mausoleum in St Margarets, opposite the Ailsa Tavern. This Egyptian-style tomb was designed for the Earl of Kilmorey and his mistress, Priscilla Hoste, whose coffins lie side-by-side. Memorials reveal fascinating aspects of the borough – including the Chilean link. The founder of modern Chile, Bernardo O’Higgins, who lived in the borough in his early years, has a memorial and square named after him – next to Richmond Bridge.

And in Richmond Cemetery a memorial which bears a striking resemblance to The Cenotaph in Whitehall honours South Africans who were killed during World War I. Sir Edwin Lutyens designed them both. The cemetery includes the tiny and beautifully restored Grove Gardens Chapel.

The borough is also home to the Poppy Factory in Petersham Road where 32 million Remembrance poppies and 80,000 wreaths are made every year.

Suggested Itineraries

Full-day trips
- Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew
- Hampton Court Palace - Arrive by boat from Westminster, Kew, Richmond, Kingston or Hampton Court

Half-day attractions
The following attractions will take about half a day to visit and therefore could be combined with one another:
- London Wetland Centre
- Marble Hill House
- Ham House - Sit on opposite banks of the River Thames and from April to October a small ferry runs between them, takes 5 minutes, much quicker than going by road!
- Museum of Rugby and Stadium Tours

In the evening
- Richmond Theatre
- Orange Tree Theatre

Less than half a day
These attractions will take less than half a day so can be combined with each other, giving you time to go shopping, enjoy long lunches or stroll along the river.
- Orleans House Gallery
- Garrick's Temple
- Twickenham Museum
- Museum of Richmond
- The National Archives
- Strawberry Hill House
- Guided walks
- Royal British Legion Poppy Factory

Why not walk along the tow path between the attractions that are along the river?
From palms to palaces, tundra to temples

Come and see 40,000 plants, 40 listed buildings, set within 300 beautiful acres.

When you are looking for a place to stay, you need a rating system you can trust. The Quality in Tourism (QiT) ratings are your clear guide to what to expect, in an easy-to-understand form. Properties are visited annually by trained, impartial assessors so you can have confidence that your accommodation has been thoroughly checked and rated for quality before you make a booking.

Hotels are given a rating from one to five stars - the more stars, the higher the quality and the greater the range of facilities and level of services provided.

Guest accommodation, which includes guesthouses, bed and breakfasts, inns and farmhouses, is rated from one to five diamonds and stars. The same minimum requirements for facilities and services apply to all guest accommodation from one to five diamonds. Progressively higher levels of quality and customer care must be provided for each of the one to five diamond ratings.

Self-catering establishments are rated from one to five stars. The more stars awarded to an establishment, the higher levels of quality you can expect. Establishments at higher rating levels also have to meet some additional requirements for facilities. Quality in Tourism ratings are your sign of quality assurance, giving you the confidence to book the accommodation that meets your expectations. All accommodation in this guide has been assessed by Quality in Tourism and is rated accordingly. The exception is properties that are marked “QiT applied”. These properties have applied to be rated and at the time of the guide going to print were awaiting their assessment. The London Borough of Richmond upon Thames VisitRichmond cannot accept any responsibility for the quality of this accommodation.

Booking accommodation in Richmond upon Thames. Just contact the Richmond Information Centre (RIC) by telephone, email or in person and tell them when you want to stay and how much you want to pay. They will do the rest! You can also book your accommodation online through the RIC by visiting the website below. For all bookings a £3 booking fee is charged. A 10% deposit (of the first night’s stay) towards the cost of accommodation is also charged which will be deducted from your account by the accommodation at which you stay. If you’re booking over the telephone or on the internet, please make sure you have your credit/debit card details ready. For the latest information on availability in bed and breakfast, hotel and self-catering properties, check out our website www.visitrichmond.co.uk or contact Tel: 020 8940 0057 (accommodation enquiries) Tel: 020 8940 9125 (general enquiries) Fax: 020 8940 6899 or email: info@visitrichmond.co.uk

Any problems? If you have a complaint or problem, please remember the best way to get an issue resolved is to let the proprietor or manager know at the time. If you are not satisfied, a copy of any written complaint should be sent to the Richmond Information Centre, Old Town Hall, Whittaker Avenue, Richmond, TW9 1TP for our records. Richmond Information Centre will formally respond to your complaint and send it to the assessing authority. The Richmond Information Centre has no statutory authority over establishments and is unable to get involved with legal or contractual issues, or give legal advice.

Points to Remember
- Advance booking is always advisable, especially at peak times.
- Always give an expected arrival time and phone if you are delayed (accommodation providers may re-let the accommodation if they think you are not turning up as arranged).
- It is advisable to take out holiday travel insurance.
- A telephone or written booking can form a legally binding contract. The proprietor is entitled to claim compensation if you fail to take up the booking.

The information contained in the following accommodation entries was supplied and paid for by the proprietor concerned. While every effort has been made by the London Borough of Richmond upon Thames VisitRichmond to ensure accuracy, the Council cannot accept any liability resulting from changes, errors or omissions. Prices shown were correct at time of printing and minimum prices per room are shown. Symbols are used to provide information on many of the facilities available at each establishment. Some apply throughout the listings, others are appropriate to certain sections e.g. linen hire, which only applies to self catering properties. Self catering rates are quoted weekly.

Richmond upon Thames is a unique neighborhood of London. Traversed by the Thames for 33 kilometers, it offers a blend of countryside, elegant homes, and beautiful gardens. The river connects Hampton Court Palace and the Royal Botanic Gardens of Kew to the cities of Richmond and Twickenham. Exploring this Favorite Residence of royalty, artists, and statesmen, you will discover magnificent parks, original architectural styles, and a variety of restaurants and pubs. This guide, featuring contemporary exhibitions and innovative special events programs, will help you make the most of your visit. We hope to see you again soon.
A wide range of buses cover the borough. Most run on a frequency of between 15 - 30 minutes. A guide to bus routes and railway information, ‘Exploring Richmond upon Thames by Public Transport’, is widely available free of charge from tube and railway stations and the Tourist Information Centres. (Throughout the guide walking times from buses are approximate. If no time is stated assume less than 5min walk.)

Richmond and Kew Gardens are connected to the London Underground network via the District Line. A journey into central London takes approximately 30 minutes.

The relaxing way to travel to and around Richmond upon Thames is by train. There are up to eight off-peak trains an hour leaving London Waterloo, taking approximately 20 minutes to reach the centre of Richmond upon Thames. Travel to one of the many South West Trains stations within the area including Richmond, Hampton Court, Twickenham and Kew Bridge. Locations are marked on the map (see back cover). For train times and fare information call National Rail Enquiries on: 08457 48 49 50 (calls may be recorded) www.southwesttrains.co.uk Richmond is also the terminus of Silverlink Trains, which link Richmond via North London to North Woolwich.

Heathrow Airport is on the doorstep bringing visitors from far and wide. The following buses leave from Heathrow: Bus No. 111, 726 (to Hampton), 285 (to Teddington) and 490 (Hatton Cross to Richmond). The Piccadilly line from Hammersmith Underground goes to all terminals.

Taxi services are widely available.

There are several marked cycle lanes and many visitor attractions provide cycle racks. Richmond Park has a marked cycle route around the perimeter. Leisure cycling guides are available from the Richmond Information Centre and local bookshops.

The borough is an ideal place for walking in picturesque surroundings. The Thames Path links Hampton Court Palace, Ham House, Twickenham, York House, Orleans House Gallery, Marble Hill House, Richmond, Kew Gardens and the London Wetland Centre. An accessible walking guide is available free of charge from the Richmond Information Centre.
