To York
A10

A61
034
South Cave
034
Road
A6
Brough
8

8
Be ve rle y Ro ad Beverle y
Hull
Woo dmansey
Skirlaugh
Du nswe
l
Kingswood
Sproatley
Presto
... Hull
To the Humber
Bridge
North Sea
Brough
North Newbald
Skidby
Hessle
Etton
Leconfield
Hornsea

CULTURE

Consequence arising from the use of information.

Cherry Burton
Bridge
To the 35 Leconfield

A164
A164
A1035
A10
33
Beverley
T o the

3

Leconfield
A164
A164
A1035
A10
33
Beverley

DEFENDERS

Disarmers were a group of men who lived in the town who were trained in the care of horses and were responsible for providing military defence to the town.

SAWMILLERS

Made planks for the building of ships and for the making of roads.

AMMONIERS

Ammoniers were responsible for preserving meat and making it safe to eat.

PLUMBERS

Plumbers were responsible for the repair and maintenance of plumbing systems in homes.

SHAWLMAKERS

Shawlmakers were responsible for the production of shawls, a type of clothing that was popular in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Bakers were responsible for baking bread and other baked goods. They would often use a windmill to grind the grain.

TIMBERMEN

Timermen were responsible for the cutting and transportation of timber.

BREWER

Brewers were responsible for the production of beer.

MERCHANTS

The Merchants Guild was the largest in Beverley. They were responsible for trading goods.

WINDMILLERS

Windmillers were responsible for operating windmills, which were used to grind grain.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

SADDLERS

Saddlers were responsible for making saddles and other horse related items.

SPINNERS

Spinners were responsible for spinning wool into yarn. They would use a spinning wheel.

SOAPS MAKERS

Soapmakers were responsible for making soap.

WILD FOWLERS

Wildfowlers were responsible for hunting wildfowl, such as geese and ducks.

CARTMEN

Cartmen were responsible for transporting goods using carts.

ARMOURERS

Armourers were responsible for making and repairing armor.

BRICKLAYERS

Bricklayers were responsible for laying bricks and building walls.

PHARMACISTS

Pharmacists were responsible for the preparation of medicines.

SHOE MAKERS

Shoemakers were responsible for making and repairing shoes.

BUTCHERS

Butchers were responsible for selling meat.

COOKS

Cooks were responsible for preparing food.

TIGER LANE

Tiger Lane was named after the large tiger that lived there. The tiger was later killed by a hunter.

VIOLIN MAKERS

Violin makers were responsible for making violins. They would use a lathe and other tools to shape the wood.

HEMPTAIRES

Hemptaires were responsible for the production of hemp, which was used to make rope.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.

TANNERS

Tanners were responsible for tanning leather. They would use a tannery to process the skins of animals.